

1. Remove the face cushion and the original head strap from the VR headset. Fix the round end of the velcro band into the slot from the VR headset. Fix the flat end side of the velcro band into the velcro band slot from the head strap.
2. Put the face cushion back securely, snap the long connection parts to the VR Headset arms. Make sure it holds the VR headset firmly.
3. Put the VR headset on and adjust the head strap until you see a clear image by turning the base frame knob and adjusting the length of the velcro band.

Adjust the head strap to your desired level of comfort by removing the upper detachable frame as shown in 1, the lower detachable frame as shown in 2 or both.

To reduce the risk of personal injury, discomfort, or property damage, please ensure that each headset user carefully reads the warnings below before using this VR system.

- Before installing, make sure to match the "L" and "R" icon on the buckle and extension arm. Wrong installation may damage the parts and be difficult to separate.
- This product is not a toy and should not be used by children under the age of 13. The headset is not sized for children and improper sizing can lead to discomfort or adverse health effects.
- The headset is not for use outdoors. Use of the headset outdoors creates additional and uncontrolled hazards, like uneven and slippery surfaces and unexpected obstacles and vehicles.
- Never wear the headset in situations that require attention, such as running, bicycling, driving, or handling hazardous objects, whether indoors or outdoors.

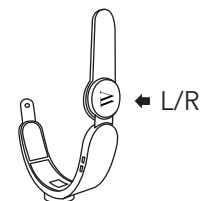

- To reduce the risk of discomfort, the headset should be balanced and centered, and the distance between the lenses (the intra-axial distance, or IAD) should be appropriately set for each user. When properly adjusted, the headset should feel comfortably and you should see a single, clear image. Re-check the settings before resuming use after a break to avoid any unintended changes to any adjustments.
